ALBANY.
Mr. R. M. Haines has a yearling colt that weighed the 2d of December nine hundred and thirty-five pounds. The colt stands fifteen and a quarter hands high and is of a dark bay color. Good colt.

The annual session of the Teachers' institute for Orleans county, will be held in the village of West Albany, commencing on Monday, January 29th, at ten o'clock, a. m., and closing on the Friday following, at four o'clock, p. m.

Luther D. Hyde, son of Perley Hyde, Esq., has received the appointment of station agent and telegraph operator at East Hardwick. He has been employed with the civil engineers on the road for nearly two years, and has gained the confidence of his employers, as he always does wherever he is employed, and we doubt not to be a favorite with the public.—Express.

The friends of the Free Will Baptist church, in East Albany, met on the 11th, agreeable to notice, for a donation visit for the benefit of their pastor, Rev. Joseph Cox. The evening passed off pleasantly, with speeches interspersed with singing. About 8 o'clock oysters were served with quite a good lot of nice cakes and other eatables, gotten up by the ladies, to whom due praise belongs. All seemed to enjoy the visit well, judging by the amount of money left, which was $132.30. On presentation, Mr. Cox made some appropriate remarks, and thanking the donors kindly, the exercises closed by singing doxology.

BARTON.
The fifth annual meeting of the Orleans Fair Ground Company will be held in the south school room, on Tuesday, February 30.

Mrs. Buchanan read a well written essay before the Debating and Literary Society at the Landing, last Tuesday eve., entitled "The Hill of Science."

Messrs. Grandy, Skinner & Parker shipped $354.18 worth of dressed lumber from their mill for eight days commencing Dec. 28, 1871, and ending Jan. 5, 1872. That will do for the holidays.

A donation visit and oyster supper for the benefit of Rev. John Thurston, will be held at the school house, Barton Landing, on the afternoon and evening of Thursday next. All are invited to attend.

There are members of four generations living in the house of George W. Heath, of this town, viz: Moses Heath, George W. Heath, Milton C. Heath and Harry M. Heath; all in one house and one family. Who in the county can show a like or similar record.

The way-freight train south ran off the track last Saturday between South Barton and West Burke, badly smashing several cars and blocking the track, making the passenger train two hours late. One man, a peddler in the saloon car, was quite badly injured.

Notice the advertisement of E. E. Rawson, in another column, and then go into his store and take a look at his shelves, showcases, &c. You will see that Mr. R. is particular, tasty and neat in the arrangement of his watches, clocks, jewelry, toys, &c., and has a place for everything, and everything in its place. If you have a watch that wants fixing, carry it to him and he will be just as particular about fixing it just right, as he is in the arrangement of his goods, and will make it go if there is any go in it.

C. B. Warner, who was burned at the fire here the day before Christmas, is on his legs again, with new set of tools. He has finished off a shop in his barn, where he will hammer away at tin and sell stoves this winter and probably rebuild in the spring. See ad.

Our friend and next door neighbor, Charley Dwell, who was burned out at the same time and whose loss was more than all the rest, will continue the lumber business as before and on a larger scale. See advertisement. Charley is a good fellow and the best kind of a neighbor, and we wish him so much success that he may more than make good his loss by fire. His furniture shop was burned with everything in it. He did not even have a chance to open a door or window, but he coolly remarked to us next day that he had the key. An amusing incident at the fire was a fellow who, in the excitement, tried to lug off an old rusty caldron kettle, as he said, for his wife to fry doughnuts in.

SILVER WEDDING.—We take the following from the St. Johnsbury Calendar, an. relating to the Silver Wedding of Rev. E. D. Hopkins, formerly of this County.

There was a very pleasant gathering at the residence of Rev. E. D. Hopkins on the 5th inst. to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins; or to attend the "Silver Wedding." The Rev. and Mrs. Hopkins were taken almost by surprise by friends from far and near to the number of about 75, bringing with them things valuable, in silver ware, to the amount of one hundred dollars, and other presents in the shape of silver and paper money. The evening was pleasantly spent in chatting, singing, and partaking of the repast furnished, and far spent, when congratulations for the past and good wishes for the future, with a presentation of the gifts, was given in a few remarks by Dr. G. B. Bullard. Mr. Hopkins responded in very appropriate remarks, thanking his many friends for their tokens of remembrance and kindly feelings toward himself and family. The Rev. Mr. Lewis of West Concord then read the original publishing ceremony, gone through with in those days—only 25 years ago—which seemed unnecessary and even laughable at this day. A very affecting prayer was then offered by Rev. Mr. Lewis, when the company dispersed, happy that they had helped others to be happy.

Of the present family of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, two young men are well known as holding responsible positions with Messrs. E. & T. Fairbanks & Co. One young man—Charles—giving great promise, was suddenly stricken down a little more than a year ago. Had he been spared their cup of joy would have been full.

CRAFTSBURY.
Rev. Mr. Johnston, late pastor of the reformed Presbyterian church, has returned here to preach through January and February.

HEAVY CATTLE.—Mr. Schuyler Corey has a pair of oxen five years old that weigh 3,310 pounds; a pair of three year old steers that weigh 2,325; and a pair of steers twenty months old that weigh 2,462 pounds.
Mr. A. Scott also has a pair of steers twenty months old that weigh 2,500 pounds. The average weight per month of Mr. Scott's steers, from their birth, is 125 pounds.

The members of the Craftsbury Farmer's Club met at the town hall Tuesday evening, January 2d, and elected the following officers for the year ensuing: Hon. W. J. Hastings, President; E. S. Gage, Vice President; A. J. Smith, Secretary; A. P. Dutton, Treasurer; I. D. R. Collins, J. W. Simpson and A. Morse, Directors. The subject for discussion, Tuesday evening, January 16th, "What is the best rotation of crops to keep up the fertility of the soil?"

COVENTRY.
There is to be an oyster supper at the Coventry house, next Wednesday evening. Davis' band will be present, and a pleasant time is expected.

GLOVER.
A CARD.—I take this method to inform the public in regard to the following matter, so far as they may have been led to wrong conclusions through any instrumentality of mine:
At a certain meeting of the West Glover meeting house society, owing to a positive misunderstanding of facts, as I very soon found, it appeared to the public as though I denied the accuracy and honesty of E. O. Randall's report as one of the building committee. And now I wish to say that I have long and sincerely regretted the course I then took, as I never had any true reason, either then or since, to doubt his honesty or integrity; and if any person has used me for authority in reporting or believing any reports detrimental to said E. O. Randall's integrity in the said matter, I wish to hereby clear myself of said intention, as I do not now ever feel believe him.

West Glover, Jan. 13, 1872.
LEWIS BARBER.

The churches of the town are at the present time holding religious meetings during the evenings. Much interest is manifested in the subject.

Miss Ina Bridgman of Hardwick lectured at the town hall on last Saturday and Sunday evenings on the rights of women. She handled her subject well, and her remarks were listened to with much interest.

GREENSBORO.
GREENSBORO, Jan. 11th, 1872.
Our merchants are now regularly receiving their freight and express matter by the P. O. R. R. The postmaster has been instructed, by the post office department, to receive bids for delivering the mail from the station at the "Bend" to the several offices in town.

J. P. Pinney has a singing school in successful operation in district No. 5, and we learn that he is to have another in district No. 3. We wish him abundant success as it is his first venture in that line.

We receive favorable report from the schools this winter, with the exception of district No. 6 and 8, in which the teachers having some difficulty with the scholars resigned; but their places are now filled by other teachers.

If you want a new first-class cook or parlor stove, or tin-ware of any description; or if you wish your old tin-ware "inkered" come to J. M. Jackman, who keeps a good stock always on hand of the very best quality and who will solder up your old tin so quick that you can't tell how he does it.

We judge the lumbering business to be unusually good from the large amount of logs being delivered at the mill of Eastman & Skinner, of this village.

IRASBURGH.
"The Drummer Boy or the Spy of the Rappahannock" will be played at the Congregational church on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 18, instead of the 28th as we had it last week. A "2" got into the "1" box, that's all.

At a meeting of the directors of the First National Bank of Orleans, held Jan. 9, the following officers were elected:—Hiram McLellan, President; H. K. Dewey, Cashier; H. McLellan, Loren Soper, W. B. Denison, C. P. Allen, Amory Davidson, Directors.

The proceeds of the donation last Friday evening, for the benefit of Rev. Mr. McDonald, amounted to $135. A lively and enjoyable time was had. Interesting remarks were made by Rev. John Thurston, of Barton Landing, Mr. J. B. Fasset, of Enosburgh, and others.

The Missisco Valley road is coming to North Troy, and also the Montreal & Chamby road. Will it seek connection with the Passumpsic road at Newport, and thence across to the Grand Trunk at Island Pond? or will it seek a new route up the Black River Valley to Craftsbury and down the Gulf road to Hardwick, through a section whose lumber and farming products would give a great amount of way-freight, thence from Hardwick either to Wells River or Montpelier? If to Wells River, it will connect with the Montreal road that connects with the Passumpsic at that place, thus making another through line from Boston to Montreal. If to Montpelier, it will be a valuable branch to the Central, and give this part of the state a more direct communication with the capital. This new route is regarded with much favor in Irasburgh.

JAY.
A. C. Elliott's hip was injured by a schoolboy catching hold of him in fun and just at the moment the team started, pulling him upon the ice.

J. Cohana has moved from the Titus farm to the boarding house at Ball's mill where he intends to accommodate all who are in need of board.

The late good roads have given lumbering a joy. R. L. Ball has ten or a dozen teams on the road daily and many others are as active for themselves.

Geo. Dennison has partially lost the use of one arm. One year ago last summer he fell upon a scythe and cut his arm and of late it has been perishing; supposed to be caused by the cut.

S. B. Wakeman came very near being burned out the other night. A bed and bedding was hung around a stove to air in a spare room, when they caught fire burning them with four chairs, a table, ruining a carpet and some other articles, and had burned one window nearly out before discovered.

NEWPORT.
The town of Newport has purchased a hearse, at an expense of $855.

A new law office is to be opened in True's block by Edwards & Dickerman of Derby.

Elias Lawrence has sold his little place at Newport Center to Hollis Gould for $2000, and is going out west.

Surveyors are now busy in locating the track of the Missisquoi Valley Railroad. It is expected the bridge across the Wheelock Bay of the lake will be built this winter.

A dozen of the belles of Newport treated an equal number of young gents to a leap year's ride to Coventry last Friday evening. The misses followed suit on Saturday, and took the boys to a ride to Derby Center.

Engineer Blackie and corps are here, to commence the work of making the final survey of the railroad from here to Troy line. Indications are that the question of the construction of the road is settled. We understand that preparations are making for piling across the bay at once, and that work will be early commenced and pushed rapidly. We think the few croakers will be obliged to beat a hasty retreat and lie themselves to some safe place, where the whistle of progress will never disturb them.—Express.

SHEFFIELD.
John Foggerson of Sheffield, went into the woods one day last week, and broke his leg short off below the knee. He was alone and had to crawl on his hands and knees to the top of a hill, where he could halloo for help.—St. Johnsbury Times.

NARROW ESCAPE.—The Keen Republican says that on Wednesday morning of last week, two little fellows of five or six years attempted to cross the railroad track on Main street, just before an approaching train was being backed across the street. They were seen and called on to go back, but turning, both slipped down just on the track. A scurrying for dear life barely saved by a few inches, the wheels passed beyond them before the train could be stopped.

The trial of John A. Ring, for the murder of Thompson, at Bristol, resulted, on Saturday, in a verdict of manslaughter, much to the disgust of a large audience who were expecting an acquittal, especially as the judge charged the jury strongly in favor of the prisoner. Ring testified that Thompson had several times threatened his life, and attacked him on the occasion when he (Ring) stabbed him with fatal result.

The cattle train from the north due at Bellows Falls, Monday evening, met with quite an accident about two miles above that place, owing to a broken rail. Nineteen cars were thrown off the track, and three of them, with their contents, badly smashed, killing from 100 to 200 sheep and many cattle, besides injuring many more. A brakeman was badly wounded in the leg. The debris was promptly removed, and the trains were running as usual on Tuesday.

The house and horse-lamb belonging to Horace Lamb, near West Randolph, were entirely consumed by fire on Sunday last, together with nearly all their contents. The fire caught in the roof, probably from defect in chimney.

The family had all gone to church, except a cripple brother of Mr. Lamb's, who was in his room up stairs, and as he was totally helpless, perished in the flames. As soon as the fire was discovered the neighbors rushed to the house, but every effort to save the unfortunate man proved fruitless.—Calendar.

HINESBURGH.—Three young men, whose names are not given here, because we do not wish to add to their shame, were arrested last week, and fined five dollars each and costs, for disorderly conduct on the highway, laying obstructions of wood and rails in it, tearing up sluice ways, taking off gates by the road-side, and breaking into a school house and damaging it. For this last offense they have to pay an additional bill of damages. It is understood that the boys lay their bad conduct to the drinking of cider, upon which they were partially intoxicated. Some of them claim more honor than to do such mean things when sober. It is hoped that they will hereafter have too much honor to

OUR UNOCCUPIED DOMAIN.—Few people really realize how many acres are unoccupied in the great West. There are eleven territories, two or three of which are twice or three times as large as all New England; and it is a small territory that is not at least ten times as large as Massachusetts. Colorado is thirteen times as large as Massachusetts, while Dakota and Arizona are half as large again as Colorado. The eleven territories contain over one billion and a quarter acres, exceeding by nearly two hundred thousand square miles the aggregate territory of all the present admitted States of the Union. The territory of Alaska contains 359,529,600 acres.

STATE ITEMS.
Scarlet fever is raging among the children in Bennington.

ST. ALBANS BUTTER MARKET.—On Tuesday, only 291 tubs were shipped at 25 to 30 cents, and no cheese was offered.

There have been 18 deaths in Cabot the past year, the oldest 95 years, and the youngest 12 years of age. Two have been brought here from other towns for interment.

PATENTS.—The following Vermont patents have been issued for the week ending Dec. 19, 1871:

Abijah Whitney Hall, Northfield, for combined friction and ratchet clutch.
Milton Sessions and David Murray, of St. Albans, for car-axe box.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Another sad and fatal accident occurred at Perkinsville, Mr. Warren Piper, a very estimable young man, about 28 years of age, was instantly killed on Thursday, while chopping in the woods, by a tree falling upon him. This is the second fatal accident in Perkinsville in less than two weeks.

A Bridgewater farmer has invented an alarm clock which promises to eclipse anything now in use. A roost is arranged in the corner of a room for a young bantam rooster, whose melodious notes are sure to wake the adjacent sleepers. If the first crow does not accomplish its object, Banty, quite accommodating, repeats it.

Cabot Village narrowly escaped a conflagration on the 3d inst., at about 10 a. m. Smoke was discovered issuing from the roof of Union Block. Upon examination it was found to be in the partition of the third story, and probably had caught from a defect in the chimney. It being thus early discovered saved the village a great calamity.

The last Star thus notices the new snow plow of the P. & O.: An extra large snow plow intended for use on the P. & O. R. R., while passing the station at So. Newbury over the Passumpsic line, took away the platform to the depot. Snow plows are a good thing in their place, but when they plow out railroad stations are rather acting out of their proper sphere of usefulness.

Albert P. Jackson, a young married man of West Topsham, was brought to grief a few days since, by being detected in embezzlement of goods from his employers, H. H. Hatch & Co., of Stratford. He has settled with his employers by delivering up to them the goods and securing to them the payment of $1,075.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—While the pupils of Miss Belle D. Horton's school in Stockbridge, were recently having their nooning, Miss Nora Pierce put some apple seeds on her eye lid for another young lady to name. While she was naming them, pointing to each seed with a pen-knife, a young man gave her head a push from behind, driving the blade half its length into the cavity of the eye. The doctor is in hopes he can save the eye.

THE ARLINGTON TRAGEDY.—The court of inquiry in reference to the recent fatal shooting affray at East Arlington, has closed its labors, the justice holding Sherrod Farwell and Franklin Lawrence guilty of willful murder, declining to allow them the benefit of bail. They were taken to Bennington and committed to jail, where they will await the action of the grand jury, which will be in session at Manchester, in June, in connection with the next term of the Bennington Court. The complaint, on which they are held, charges them with the murder of Maloney, alone. No action has been taken, as yet, with reference to the shooting of John Hanna, which has since resulted fatally, or of Frank Buck and Edward Rafferty. Both Buck and Rafferty are rapidly improving and are neither of them confined to the house.

The assassination of James Fisk, Jr., and the ceremonies attendant upon his burial have formed almost the only topic of thought and conversation in Brattleboro, during the past week. Inasmuch as here his first ambitious schemes had their birth and development, it was fitting that our beautiful cemetery should furnish a resting place for his remains. Not since the death of Lincoln has an event of a similar nature occurred which has called forth so universal a feeling of sympathy from the community. Not that the faults in the character of the deceased are overlooked in contemplating his virtues; but that one so well known in our midst, who had raised himself solely by the force of his own genius to so great a height of power should fall by the assassin's blow—this it is that calls forth the tear of sympathy and echoes the cry of justice to the foul perpetrator.—Vermont Phoenix.

Says a correspondent of the Burlington Free Press: Swanton is somewhat excited, but not more so than some other towns over the purchase, by the Messrs. Fairbanks of St. Johnsbury, Bradley Barlow of St. Albans, and Col. Jewett of Swanton, of seven hundred acres of land lying between Swanton Falls and the lake. The price paid is about $70,000. The distance from Swanton village to the lake is one mile, and it is beautiful for situation as well as in the quality of the land. It is now a certainty that the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad will be soon extended to the lake, and a wharf built for the accommodation of boats. A surveyor is now locating the road, and soundings have been taken for the wharf. All this looks well for Swanton, and proves that the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad is going to be one of the institutions of the State, not wholly in the interest of St. Albans. Since the Fairbanks Company gave us the hand on the route terminating at Swanton, they have turned neither to the right hand nor left, but have proved their character so long sustained as incorruptible men. The efforts to turn the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad have been gigantic (since it became a certainty) but have availed nothing.—Swanton believes in Fairbanks & Co.

PISTOLS AND WHISKEY.—On Monday evening there occurred in Windsor village what we have never before been called upon to record, viz: a pitiful exhibition of pistols and whiskey in close connection with each other—pistols in the hands of females and whiskey in the stomach and brains of men. In the early part of the evening the attention of citizens was called to the firing of a pistol in the street, and on inquiry, it was found to proceed from the hand of a young woman, upon some provocation from masculine. Later in the evening, another report was heard from another female hand, near the town hall. As the story comes to us, it appears that a woman passing up the common hill, toward the town hall, in pursuit of her husband for aid in the care of a sick child, was grossly insulted and assailed by a drunken man, whom she leveled to the ground with her blows, and warned that, if he did not desist, she would shoot him. The crazy fellow pursued her, and she fired, without harm to him, and made her way to her husband. As they left to return, the assailant was pointed out by the woman, and he received a pretty thorough "thrashing" from her indignant husband. It was found, afterward, that friends had led the intoxicated man home, and committed him to the care of his wife. When sober he is a peaceable, industrious man, but when intoxicated, he is—what he is.

What do these things signify, and who are blame-worthy for these facts? Is there a class of women among us that, for any reason, go armed with concealed deadly weapons? Is it not safe for ladies to venture alone into the streets, especially in the evening, without a revolver? What do the intelligent and respectable people of Windsor say?—Windsor Journal.

The message of Gov. Hoffman of New York has not given entire satisfaction even to his own party. The New York Citizen, a paper owned and edited by a "democratic member of Congress, says "of all the weak documents we have had in this time of trial from our public men, the communication of Governor Hoffman to the Legislature is the weakest. Its suggestions are so trivial, its proposed improvements so inefficient." We hardly know what point to discuss where all is so poor." No Republican journal has said anything half so bitter and sweeping. Poor Hoffman—his mistake at the time of the Orange riot will never be forgiven.

The California Assembly has adopted a resolution in favor of the joint resolution asking Congress to pass an act restricting Chinese immigration.

The Illinois House of Representatives has adopted, by a large majority, a bill permitting women to hold offices in the departments of that State.

The Illinois House of Representatives, which has a large Republican majority, has adopted a resolution in favor of Mr. Sumner's proposed amendment to the Constitution, making the President ineligible for more than one term.

President Grant has appointed four ladies, since he has been in the White House, to the highest grade of post office, with salaries of $4000 per annum. In other grades the appointment of ladies already number by the hundreds.

General Lee's birthday is January 19, and the occasion will be celebrated at Lexington, Va., by his family and friends. His old Lieutenant-General Jubal Early will deliver a memorial address as part of the solemnities.

A curiously indorsed letter was received at the Chelmsford, England, post office the other day. It is addressed "to the handsomest unmarried blonde lady, not twenty-five years of age, in Chelmsford: Postmaster to be umpire," and bears the Boston (U.S.) postmark.

A boy was recently saved from a terrible death at a rope and twine factory in Massachusetts by the promptness and presence of mind of a little girl. The boy was caught in the machinery and was being pulled into it as fast as possible, when the little girl ran with a knife, cut the belting and released him.

The New York Times' Washington correspondent, referring to the Louisiana muddle, says: "The present is regarded as a most excellent occasion for giving both the factions there a lesson which they will remember. What with ill-judged zealots on the one hand and unscrupulous plotters on the other, the safest way out of the difficulty for the Administration, so far as it is concerned, is to rebuke both."

The Chicago fire worked one reformation at least. At a meeting to rebuild lately, Mr. Hill, the most extensive brewer in the city before the fire, stated that his burned brewery would never be reconstructed, as he was sick of the business, and would not continue his traffic even if the brewery should be rebuilt by others and given to him. It had been a profitable business, he added, but all his employees were more or less drunkards, and he preferred to go into some other calling, even if he made less than half the money which his brewery paid him.

Some anonymous individual thus sums up the peculiar social characteristics of some prominent cities: "In Boston society everybody snubs everybody else, in New York society everybody gossips about every body else, in Philadelphia society everybody attends to the morals of everybody else, in Baltimore society everybody fraternizes with everybody else, and in Chicago society just at present everybody is borrowing from everybody else. Boston, therefore, is aristocratic, New York and Philadelphia democratic, Baltimore patriarchal, and Chicago communistic."

United States District Attorney Bates of Utah, addressed an important letter to Senator Trumbull, asking from the judiciary committee advice and instructions as to what he shall do without money to pay the expenses of the court for prisoners, jurors, witnesses, &c. He says that the territorial courts, as their officers are all Mormons, will not punish their followers or leaders for high crimes at all, but do frequently punish Gentiles unfairly and unjustly, and unless the United States courts prosecute criminals, anarchy must soon exist there, and neither life nor property be safe. The cost of keeping prisoners and the expenses for transportation already amount to $15,000. There is no such amount on hand for present or future expenses. The attorney concludes: I see no other course for the government but to provide money immediately for the prosecution of the great crimes now charged, or order them all dismissed.

A FEARFUL SCENE.—The particulars of the dreadful trapeze accident at the Union-Square Theatre, New York, are thus detailed:

A female gymnast and danseuse known as Geraldine, a young and beautiful woman, was in rehearsal of the flying trapeze performance to be given in the afternoon. She gives a certain portion of this feat in company with Mr. Leopold, and they were, it is understood, practicing a variation upon it. The couple swung off with a rope from a point in the dress circle, swiftly flying through the air and not pausing until a trapeze bar is reached which depends from the ceiling near the back of the stage. Leopold was making this wild passage on the swinging trapeze with Geraldine holding fast to his body. When the couple had reached the point immediately beneath the center of the arc, the sudden tension of the rope, or some nervous apprehension on the part of the lady, caused her to loosen her hold, and she dashed with great violence upon the floor, striking partly upon the foot-lights and partly upon an iron support used for temporary gas fixtures. For an instant the scene was so blood-curdling as to strike every one dumb with shuddering pity. Two physicians were called in, and the poor suffering girl was treated with every attention necessary to alleviate her pain. Her injuries, it is feared, are of a fatal character.

The House of Representatives on Monday voted down a resolution repealing the income tax, by a vote of 80 days to 70 years.

THE AMERICAN STOCK JOURNAL.—Many persons suppose it impossible to publish a good practical paper outside of certain cities. We simply ask such to send for a specimen copy of the Journal, and let it speak for itself. The January number is full of good practical articles, handsomely illustrated by over twenty engravings of horses, farm buildings, sheep, swine, poultry, pigeons, etc. This Journal is edited by men that have had a long practical experience in farming and stock breeding, we think they will satisfy any one, that persons can be practically engaged in this business, and yet edit a presentable paper. The veterinary department is in charge of experienced veterinary surgeons, who answer through the Journal all questions, relating to sick, injured, or diseased animals, free of charge. Specimen copies sent gratis, by N. P. Boyer & Co., Publishers, Parkersburg, Pa.
